"HOW SHOULD PROHIBITIONISTS VOTE?"

in this election has troubled a good many conscientious voters of that party. The saloon people never mince things—they always know where their interest is and vote that way. A recent issue of the New York Saloon Journal, a newspaper published in the interest of the liquor dealers, says: "There is only one safe way for the liquor interest.
They must unite to a man to work heart and soul, day and night, for the success of the democratic party, and the best way for the delegate to spend his time is to consider the best means to elect the democratic ticket, state and national."

The democratic accusation that the republican party is in favor of "free whiskey" is made to secure the prohibition vote. But this statement should convince any fair-minded prohibitionist that they can never expect any relief from the democratic party and they should not throw their votes away on candidates they can not elect.

THE Pacific Christian Advocate of the 1st inst. contains the obituary notice of John Fremont—Colonel Henderson of Eugene City. He was taken sick on the 8th of October, and died on the morning of the 17th. "Colonel," as he was familiarly called, was a typo, and formerly worked for General Odell in this city. He had many friends all over the state, who will regret to know that he has thus early been called to solve the inevitable problem of what lies beyond. He died happy in the firm conviction of a brighter hereafter.

As Mrs. Sheridan proposes to see to it herself, without assistance, there will be a monument erected over General Sheridan's grave. It may not be of the massive proportions and artistic grandeur promised for the monument in New York to General Grant, but it will not be a monument on paper, and no city or association will be taken to everlasting task for not erecting it.

DURING the Long Congress of 1849-50, Webster, Clay, Calhoun and Benton were the leaders of the senate, and the subjects of debate were numerous and interesting. This session was the longest in the history of the nation, until this year's performance broke the record. It was at "the long session," as it was ever afterwards called, that the venerable and silver-tongued Clay, the massive Webster, the scholarly Calhoun and the rugged Benton had their last mutual struggle, the last of earth for the three. In the house there was a galaxy of greatness, almost every name of which has since become famous. Nearly all the old and worn political issues were laid aside by that congress; nearly all the new questions to be fought over for the next twenty years, were started there; the territorial system received its final shape, California became a state, the Texas boundary question was settled, the fugitive slave law passed, and after a long and heated debate the slavery question was settled by a compromise which both the great parties indorsed, and which, it was fondly hoped, would endure for a century.
The union was nearer to a dissolution then than it ever again was before the war began. President Taylor died in the hottest stage of the controversy, and Vice-President Fillmore succeeded.

An eminent engineer of London suggested to the police the theory that the Whitechapel murderer was a maniac trying to find the elixir of life and was looking for the essential ingredients in the parts taken from the murdered bodies, and that like the witches in "Macbeth," he spent his time over a bubbling chaudiron of hell broth made of the gory ingredients, looking for the charm.
Detectives disguised as laborers and talked with loose women, endeavoring to find out from them something to give the police a tangible basis to work on. Some private detective agencies, tempted by the $8000 reward, have rented private houses and got decoy women on the streets, but all avails nothing.

"IN acknowledgement of all that God has done for us as a nation, and to the end that on an appointed day the united prayer and praise of a grateful country may reach the throne of grace, I Grover Cleveland, president of the United States, do herby designate and set apart Thursday, the 29th day of November, instant, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, to be kept and observed throughout the land."

Innocuous Desecrude.

It is about time that the people of McMinnville should become cognizant of the fact that typhoid fever carried away more people within the past month than the scourge small-pox, of which they were so much afraid. Two cases have already gone hence and the chances for recovery are against two or three more. If this city was in a good sanitary condition there would not be a case of typhoid fever here. It is with the utmost reluctance that we think that the government of this city has been criminal in one sense, for the past five or six years, but it is a fact. If the people would only show the right spirit and improve the town we would not have the fear of typhoid every year.
Typhoid is more fatal than small-pox. It is worse than yellow fever, only not contagious. It is the filthy condition of this city which tends more to the production of typhoid than anything else. If the people can sit still and do nothing to make way with this condition of things the future of this city is "innocuous desecrude."—Telephone.

Eureka.

The motto of California means, I have found it. Only in that land of sunshine, where the orange, lemon, olive, fig and grape bloom and ripen and attain their highest perfection in mid-winter are the herbs and gum found that are used in that pleasant remedy for all throat and lung troubles.

Institute will be at the Chemeketa hotel, Salem, November 10th, 1888.

They come fully prepared with all the apparatus necessary for the successful treatment of their specialties, curvature of the spine, diseases of the hip and knee joint, exsolved limbs, club feet and all bodily deformities. Their success in treating these troubles as well as all chronic and sexual diseases has made for the Institute a national reputation.

Upon application, references will be furnished from patients in all parts of the United States.

All persons who are suffering from any of these complaints, should not fail to take advantage of this opportunity for relief.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1st, 1888.

Messrs. WELLES BROS.,

Salem, Oregon.

Gentlemen:—We had the pleasure recently of making shipment to you of our new "White Cross" Extracts, and send you by mail to-day a very neat show card which we would like you to place promi-nently in your store, and which will call attention to your trade to the goods.

It has been our intention for some time past to place upon the market the finest line of flavoring extracts manufactured in this country, and after months of study and experimenting with the prominent brands now before the public we have at last succeeded in placing before you a quality which beyond doubt has no superior.

We can not too strongly impress upon you that you can unhesitatingly recommend them to your customers as the finest that can possibly be manufactured. The package and style generally is such as to attract attention, and we predict that when your trade have tested the quality of the goods your sale for "White Cross" extracts will be large.

By complying with our request you will confer a favor upon yours truly.
